In June and July of 2007 a Waging Peace researcher conducted a three week fact-finding mission in Eastern Chad about the crisis in Darfur. While collecting testimonies, she gave children aged 6-18 paper and pencils and asked them about their dreams for the future and their memories from the past. Drawings of Genocide is a collection of these children's drawings and testimonies, which depict memories of the shocking atrocities committed against these young witnesses. Waging Peace is a UK-based human rights organization which campaigns against the systematic human rights abuses and genocide in Darfur. The drawings are children's witness statements and have been accepted by the International Criminal Court as contextual evidence of the crimes committed in Darfur.
